

Monthly Count of Electors Made Dormant or Ineligible

Technical Notes

As with all data published by the Electoral Commission, we urge users to use the data ethically and remember that this data represents real people in New Zealand.

This data includes the count of electors made dormant or ineligible for any length of time from January 1, 2009 - August 25, 2025. Also included are the counts of electors who have re-enrolled after being dormant or after a period of ineligibility.

Electors are made dormant when the Electoral Commission can no longer verify an elector's address, such as from returned mail. These electors are still eligible to vote.

An elector becomes ineligible when the Electoral Commission is notified they are no longer eligible (deceased, overseas for longer than the Act allows eligibility, immigration status changes, incarceration, etc.) or when the elector has been dormant for 3 years without contacting the Electoral Commission.

Any elector transactions that result in an elector moving to the dormant roll, being marked as ineligible, or re-enrolling onto the main electoral roll are not included in this dataset (e.g. new electors to the main roll or electors updating details).
