

PART A: Details of Donation

This type of donation is for any New Zealand person who wants to make a donation of more than $1,500 to a political party and does not want their identity to be disclosed to either the public or to the party receiving the donation.

The Electoral Commission puts your donation together with others and passes it to the party at regular intervals.

Please note that:

- the maximum amount that an individual or body can donate to any one party through this process is $48,441 between two successive elections (but you may donate to more than one party in this way, and to a $48,441 limit for each)
- no party may receive more than $322,940 from donations protected from disclosure between two successive elections
- an overseas person, as defined by section 207(2) of the Electoral Act 1993, is not permitted to make or contribute to a donation protected from disclosure to a registered political party.

If this donation or contribution takes an individual or party over their limit then we will return the excess. If we believe this donation or a contribution to the donation comes from an overseas person, we will return the donation or specific contribution(s).
